Pay Rate

Average Compensation for an active Store Owner after 5 years is approximately $75,000 - 100,000. An active owner takes on daily operational tasks to justify a salary between $35,000 - $50,000. The additional compensation would be in profits from the business. Most new stores will not make a profit the first year. This is common with many new business startups, regardless of the industry. A maid company needs three full-time “teams of two” before it makes a profit.

Your business has to be successful to make a profit. The good news is we can help you learn the business.

Brief Description

We are opening stores throughout the United States. Help us open a new store in one of our emerging markets and we will make you a partner for that store, with ownership rights.

You can also buy the store through our store buyback program. You can own 100% of the store with no money upfront and with the help of a company you can trust. Your success is our mission.

We will help you learn the business by sponsoring your business classes. Maid Training Academy, the largest online maid training school in the world, is providing business classes for owners of maid service companies. This class includes everything you need to manage your cleaning business.

This class costs $5,000. We will pay for the class for people who follow our program resulting in opening a new company store. If you open and run a company store, we will pay you as an owner without the upfront financial requirements to open a store. And if you want to buy the store, you can.

Responsibilities & Expectations of an Active Store Owner

- Keep the integrity of the brand name in the highest regards
